MISSION

Meadowlark Hills is each resident's home. We are committed to enhancing quality of life by nurturing individuality, independence, values and community.

VALUES and PRINCIPLES

Value 'val- (")yü: Ways of Being. The quality that makes something desirable.

Principles 'prin (t) -s (&-) p&l: Ways of Doing. As basic law or rule, a standard.

Each person deserves respect, honor, love, acceptance, and dignity.

- We shall treat each person with generosity, gratitude, honor, and respect.
- We shall demonstrate respect through active listening, empathy, and understanding.
- We shall acknowledge, value, and honor each person.
- We shall put person before task.
- We shall practice active listening.
- We shall sincerely respond and be kind with one another.
- We shall treat one another as we wish to be treated.

Each person has the inherent right to make decisions about themselves and their own environment, and must be considerate of the impact on self and community.

- We shall deeply respect freedom of choice and personal/community integrity.
- People who live and work here will make decisions through individual and collective direction. Those who live here will also participate in representative governance.
- We shall organize ourselves into decentralized, self-led teams within community as a methodology of growing mature, accountable, and thoughtful decision-making staff.

- We shall make our place and culture inviting to all generations of our family, friends, and the community.

Financial prudence is a necessary ingredient to mission perpetuity.

- We shall conduct our affairs with integrity, and be good stewards of our resources.

Diversity enriches the community.

- We shall commit to being humble, tolerant, patient, and accepting of others when we have differences with them.
- We shall embrace diversity of background, culture, experience, and opinions.

Aging is a natural process of human development, beginning at birth and continuing through death.

- We shall celebrate life and its passages.

Leadership is the passion for serving others and not a position.

- We shall organize ourselves in the belief that leaders, throughout the organization, bear resources and are in service to those around them.

Risk-taking is a normal part of life.

- We shall honor those who knowingly make choices even when advised of associated risk.
- We shall take courage from successful risks taken, and the lessons learned from those that are not.

Music, art, humor, and fun make the soul dance.

- We shall have a good time, make music, and seek beauty.
